PLAYER

The Player has two different types of weapons: mechanical (bullets and missiles) and energy weapons (plasma bullets and lasers). They are powered from different power sources so keep in mind to upgrade them both. Missiles and lasers are activated when the player targets enemies with an auto guided system. You can change your target at any time.

Besides weapons, the player has 2 more ship abilities: holoemitters and system overload. Holoemitters are used to boost your damage and projecting 3 or 5 holodrones, so that you can damage enemies more quickly. System overload is a technology that combines nanorobots and high temperature plasma reactions to recharge shields, weapons power supply or to repair your ship's hull.

Your ship has a defense shield installed. If it fails, be careful that you don't get critical hull breach, because your reactor core will explode and destroy your ship.

ENEMIES

Duke of Alpha Centuri has 13 different enemies, each one with 3 different styles which gives them a complete diversity. Enemies are equipped with different types of weapons (plasma weapons, photon weapons, lasers, missiles) and some of them have cloaking technology, so be careful when they appear.

Bosses are quite unique and use all kinds of foul tricks to destroy the player. You will encounter some asteroids.

Be careful when flying near them because your shields can't block them, so they will hit you directly.

English

I recommend this if it is on sale. Currently it's on sale for only 49p which is well worth it. 49p for a addictive shoot'em up. I've managed to 100% perfect this in under 3 hours getting all the achievements. No replay value. Not worth the full price. Only get if on sale.. If my fingers hurts the Game is great.And now my Hands hurts and my Fingers.Fun Fun Fun.... This is a fun game you can beat in an afternoon. The graphics and soundtrack are beautiful, and the game is fun with decent progression for a few hours. This is somehow a very relaxing bullet hell game... never thought I would write that one folks lol This is a great game and it put a smile on my face.

That said there are a couple flaws, it is a bit repetative with only 2 boss fights. There are lots of different regular enemies, though they do not have all that much variety between them. The difficutly is a bit on the easy side, I'm not a great bullet hell player, and I only lost a few ships when I beat the game. It's not too easy, just close. Plus there is a higher difficulty I did not try, but hard core bullet hell junkies might not find a chalenge playing this one. Again, this is a very positive review, I'm just being honest about whats good and bad. If it looks fun, I say go ahead and get it!
