About This Content

Tower!3D Pro - KLGA airport is an add-on airport for Tower!3D Pro giving you an additional airport for your controlling challenge. With it's two short runways this airport will give you a unique experience requiring some precise controlling skills.

LaGuardia Airport an international airport in the northern part of the New York city. In 2015, the airport handled 31.4 million passangers. La Guardia has four terminals connected by buses and walkways. The airport opened with four runways at 45-degree angles to each other, the longest (13/31) being 6,000 ft. Although La Guardia was a large airport for the era in which it was built, it soon became too small. Starting in 1968 general aviation aircraft were charged heavy fees to operate from La Guardia during peak hours, driving many GA operators to airports such as Teterboro Airport.

Beat the game in 64 minutes.

Very easy to understand, but quite difficult at some points.

I would love to see more of this, or more like this.

Music is nice and soothing, I had no urge to turn it off.

1€ (or 50 cents on sale) is worth an hour of logic puzzles.. This is a fun management game with broken UI.

Everything needs more clicks than it should. Things like most frequently used option shortcuts are missing (select party and right click destination to select a destination?), as is an overview screen where you can interact with all adventurers at once (changing gear per "hero" is a pain). Similarly basic options like optimize equipment is also lacking.

But despite all this you will have fun with this if you like playing the odds. Everything here is either a rpg fight or a diceroll and you have plenty of ways to adjust your odds.

Edit: After playing more I can honestly say that I really like the game, but would love it to be more user friendly. This game isn't really the disaster this review complains about, but it could cut a lot of clicks with some thoughtful hotkeys and default. Similarly overview is a problem, even if the party screen works decently.

Still playing on iron man mode is a lot of fun, balancing risk and rewards, combining classes and building the best adventurers.. This game has a score for distance and a score for hitting deer. It has a single piece of music that wouldn't be entirely out of place in an 80s ski movie. It's called "Fancy Skiing VR". It contains wonky English. You'll look like you're doing pelvic thrusts while playing. I enjoy these things way more than I should, and I'm having a blast playing it in short spurts.

As far as being a ski game, I wouldn't exactly call it exquisitely visually realistic or hugely varied like some other ski games, but you can see that in the trailer. More importantly to me, this game has controls which are well-suited to its arcadey nature, and pretty good in general, given the current state of VR. One could go further by sitting in a swivel chair with Lighthouse markers strapped to your feet or something, but that's not possible at the moment. Maybe something could be done with planting poles for sharper turns, but that's not necessary given the current nature of this game, and it might end up causing disorientation. Here, it's simple head-tilting to steer, trigger to jump the fences, and actual ski pole thrusting to get going on the flats!

Might be good to avoid if the trailer turns you off, but I'm glad I bought it.. Great game for family of any age.. I've played this game for 45 minutes, and that's when it got boring. For a $1 game, it's a waste of your dollar. It's just a rip off of Timberman, except this is an ore tower with stone branches instead of a tree. You can get way better games than this for free. I recommend for you to not get this game so you don't waste your time, and money like I did.

Worth the 99ct I paid for it =D

Awesome game, 10/10 would recommend!. Well it's porn... it's fairly good porn but it is basically 100% porn. Gameplay is super-easy and the dungeon is pretty simple so only buy if you want porn.. Unfortunately can't recommend this right now, even though I did enjoy it.

It only brings one new music track to the table, and the vast majority of the textures are recycles from the base game, but with a purple tint. Yes, there are 33 new levels, but this isn't necessarily difficult - look how many custom user levels there already are.

It's also 1/2 the cost of the base game with essentially 1/4 of level quantity, in fairness that's acceptable to an extent because these levels are more difficult and not so much tutorials, but 1/4 the level content? Come on. If you bring in the fact that the base game had 10 tracks as well and this one only brings one track, I would argue this is as little as 1/6 the content of the base game, but only 1/2 the price. To reiterate, for one new track, 33 levels where the majority of textures are just a purple tint of pre-existing ones, the new powerups are cool but it is just three, nothing new for endless mode.

Really should've been more for this price. I enjoy it, and will continue to play it to completion because I paid for it, but I absolutely cannot recommend it at the current pricepoint. I would love to see more audio tracks get added, the new one is stellar, but it's still just one new track, and for some reason is still excluded from the OST DLC :\\ It is fantastic. The atmosphere is amazing, the puzzles are great, and the visuals are stunning. I don't understand how this game is free, though I'm certainly not complaining. Very relaxing. I'm not great with riddles or puzzles though I very much enjoy them, so it takes some effort on my part, but I have never felt insanely frustrated with a puzzle (even though I'm currently stuck in the clock room, orz).. This is my favorite DLC pack for the whole game! The best part is that Stephen Amell voices Green Arrow in the game and records extra dialogue for this level. I recomend Heroes V with both hands, one of the best heroes games of all time :)
