Dude, Dungeon Warfare 1 is amazing, and I just can't believe how much more better this tiny group of dudes managed to make it most more better in the best of the good yes please more upgrades

it's like the Empire Strikes Back of Dungeon Warfare. Stark difference from the first game. Way darker. the grid map makes you feel hopeless. I friggin love it

FOR THE LOVE OF GOD PLEASE PRT TO IOS SO I CAN BUY IT AGAIN TO PLAY ON THE TOILET. not really hot, not even warm

. Awesome game! At first it's simply Portal in 2D, but then there are "gateways" of size change, time travel and gravity change; at the same time you can use a flashlight and a mirror to activate light sensors. Quite a brainf...

\u2605\u2605\u2605\u2605\u2605\u2605\u2605\u2605\u2606\u2606. What a great game, you can go through all the levels (25) by crashing and pushing the other car out of your way! or you can just dodge all the cars that come flying at you.. Besides being an older Carendeo product this is an amazing aircraft.Its great if you love general aviation.

The aircraft its self is made by Piper.Piper is a top producer in General Aviation with other famous aircraft such as the PA-36,PA-28(i have flew) and Piper Seneca.They compete with top companys such as Cessna,Cirrus and even Air tractor.

Carendeo alongside Arabeo and A2A simulations produce the finest general aviation aircraft for both xplane and FSX.This plane is great for 18 GBP.It features a stunning flight model and VC with beatiful passenger views.The plane has tons of moving parts and features such as a sun visors and wing string (sounds very cool to say) however it doesent have rain effects on the glass and no window wipers.This is good if you need a general aviation aircraft.Great for short haul as i flew uk2000 Newcastle upon Tyne to Belfast,infact it is even great for medium haul as i done Newcastle to Kastelorzio (steam scenery).Its a very simple aircraft that i highly recommend.I might try long haul DublinX to New Jersey.

8V10-Aircraft. With mostly negative reviews I was going into it expecting poor content, but (not entirely) to my surprise I found that I enjoyed this VN. Sure, it had a few flaws, but it was overall quite charming. My only criticism would be about the pricing. I bought it on sale for a little over $2, which I think is a much more reasonable price than the original simply because of the game's length. My favorite part? The artwork--the character artwork is beautiful.. Please disregard the reviews saying that this game is not free. This game is definitely free.

There is an energy system where your actions cost energy and your energy can be refilled using in-system items, but there is no need for using any real money. Your energy refills over time, at 2 mins per energy point, and each new level you achieve both refills and adds more total energy points. You can even earn extra energy points by finding your items quickly.

I spent 3.5 hrs and went from level 1 to level 12 in one sitting- no money used at all. The energy bar system just forces you to evaluate your actions strategically- for instance, I have enough energy to play at the cabin, but not at the library- even though I need loot dropped from the library I will play the cabin, because that will give me enough energy to gain another level and my total energy will be refilled.

This is a casual type game, but it's just right mix of thinking and not thinking to be fairly addictive. I didn't mean to spend 3.5 hrs playing, yet I did. There are various tricks the game implements to keep the game slightly different, but still pretty easy. There's a nighttime mode, a silhouette mode, and around the time you get comfortable enough with a location to identify where certain objects will be, the game adds more items to your list. Also, there are achievements to gain. I already have half the achievements with just a few hours gameplay. Finishing the game completely should give you all the achievements without need for any extra replays.

Please note, this is not a game that you will play through in one sitting unless you want to use a little real money to help. You will need to leave the game periodically to allow your energy bar enough time to refill. However, it is still a fun, slightly challenging, fairly addicting hidden object game that will keep you occupied for a while.

It's free and doesn't use much space on your computer, so I definitely recommend at least trying it out to see whether you personally will like the game or not.. Very nice sounds, although there are recycled sounds for acceleration and closing doors. I think it's great

It looks good and it shows what can be done on an indie budget with Unity, Adventure Creator, and some skill. But it is a pretty bad game. It makes no sense. You wander around in the dark with some murderer out to get you. If he sees you, you're dead. You can't hide; he'll get you. And he must have night-vision goggles. He can see you before you ever see him coming. And the only way to stop him is to find a couple of boots and give them to him??? WTF? How is anybody supposed to figure that out? Poor game design. Poor puzzle design. Great atmosphere. I'm sorry I wasted money on it though. Another game for the trash bin. Put the 3-5 bucks toward a decent horror game like Outlast or SOMA.. Absolute bare-bones matching puzzle game. It's just like a ton of other matching puzzle games but without any features other than the actual matching part.

There's a "survival mode" (read: there's a time limit to make a move which resets after making a move) and (the well-named) "endless mode" (where... there's absolutely no win or lose conditions at all), either one of which basically just means you sit there and match things until you get bored and quit and/or fall asleep and let the timer run out.

I don't like giving short reviews that just say "I don't like it" but... there's really nothing else to say about the game because there's nothing else in the game to talk about. There are achievements for getting big enough chains, but outside of that, there's literally nothing to strive for, you just match things because you've been trained to match things by other matching games up until you realize the game has no feedback and doesn't care, and you shouldn't either. Some of the other reviews call this "relaxing", but I honestly never felt Bejeweled was terribly stressful enough to start with that it required a version with no levels, win, or lose condition.

My previous review was taken down because the developer went under, but now it's back, so here's the review again!. I've loved the Nancy Drew game series ever since I was a child. Warnings at Waverly Academy does not disappoint in either nostalgia or gameplay.. Kalimba is a very beautiful platformer with good music. The only bad thing about it I can say is it is short, took me just a little over 2 hours to finish it. However if I was a perfectionist I believe it would take way more time. In each level there are 70 collectibles and for your each death you lose one point. Collecting all items is not hard but not dying can be very very hard. In the second half of the game I think I died around 20 times average in each level, but it never gets frustrating. It saves frequently and you respawn very close to where you die. You never have to redo parts you already passed (unless you want perfect result for each level, in which case you have to restart level to restart death count).

In conclusion it is a good platformer for both casual players and players who wants a challenge. As long as you don't care about it being short I recommend buying it.. the game is good and very addictive but the help in this game is complete\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665not gonna prove anything if u dont believe me play the game. Another addon for OMSI 2, Great Add on. + hilarious, again many fresh ideas & parodies

no free config of controls

a bit of jump`n`run (timing) needed

time-critical level "playground". How The Heck Do Play Or Read It? (Also,I was kind of unimpressed with the wolf's deisgn.But I still recommend this game to any animal lovers.). Don't let Steam fool you, the game dates back to 2008, but it is enjoyable and fun to play. Even works with Windows 10.. It's an ok game in all honesty untill you get to the forth signal. When that happens you procede to find one of the worst designed puzzles I have yet to complete, despite learning the awnser from google. Also to add salt to this wound it is slightly different for every person AND it makes you wait inbetween what you need to be doing. I have also heard bad things about the next puzzle so for that reason alone I can not reccomend this game. It isnt a puzzle when the only way to get an awnser appears to be trial and error.
